

PROGRAM

MAY 16TH, 2017
ROOM C103

13:50 Opening Remarks (Prof. Kenichi Matsui)

14:00-16:00 Special Lecture

Dr. Morgan Wairiu

Deputy Director, Pacific Centre for Environment & Sustainable Development,
University of the South Pacific

“Climate Change Impact on Food Security in Pacific Island
Countries and Territories”

MAY 17TH, 2017
ROOM C103

13:00-13:30 Presentation by Pacific LEADS Fellows (Moderator: Prof. Takeshi Mizunoya)

1. Mr. Lote Rusaqoli Lakolako (Fiji)

“Wholesome Drinking Water for Rural Areas in Fiji as a Contributor to Sustainability”

13:30-14:00 2. Mr. Villiame Momoivalu (Fiji)

“Mangroves - Its Location, Importance and Threats in Fiji”

14:00-14:30 3. Mr. Chris Giro Wagatora (Solomon Islands)

“REDD+(Plus) Mechanism in the Solomon Islands”

14:30-15:00 Discussion with Dr. Morgan Wairiu (Moderator: Prof. Takeshi Mizunoya)

15:00 Closing Remarks (SUSTEP Committee Chair, Prof. Takeshi Mizunoya)

SPECIAL LECTURE

Climate Change Impact on Food Security in Pacific Island

Dr. Morgan Wairiu

Deputy Director,
Pacific Centre for Environment & Sustainable Development,
University of the South Pacific

PROFILE

Dr. Morgan Wairiu is currently the Deputy Director of PACE-SD.

He obtained his PhD in Environmental Soil Science from Ohio State University in USA and Master of Science from Aberdeen University in Scotland.

Dr. Wairiu has broad knowledge on Pacific regions environment and development issues including Government structures and systems both at National and community levels.

He has over 25 years work experience in the environment field including climate change adaptation and risk resilience in Solomon Islands and the Pacific region.

He also has wide experience Capacity Building and Human Resources Development including training needs assessment and workshop planning and organization.

